CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., September

North and South, is that announced to tay of Miss Eleanor Berger Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francois Berger
Moran, of "Compn Hall," this city, to Mr.
Malcolm Stuart McConigho, of New York city. The grooms and bride-elect are

Newport, Alken and Saratoga, Mr. McConighe spending much of his time at the latter resort.

Miss Moran, through her mother, formerly Miss Jane Washington, belongs to the distinguished Blackburn-Washington family of Virginia, Mrs. Moran's great-aunt having married Judge Bushrod
Washington, the favorite nephew of General Washington, from whom he inherited Mount Vernon. From constant intermarriages the Blackburns ruled as mistresses of Mount Vernon as long as the Washingtons were masters. Through her father the bride-elect belongs to a prominent New York family, being a granddeughter of the late Charles Moran, the well known banker and financier.

In Southern society Miss Moran has been regarded for several years as a noted beauty. Soon after her debut, which was made in Virginia, she went abroad,
and during her stay in Cairo, Paris and London took an active part in the social life of those centers, meeting many of the titled personages. Her rejection of Prince August Fabian Colonna, of Italy, whom she met in Paris, became generally known from the elevation of the distinguished suitor and his subsequent disappointment, which he made no attempt to conceal. Since her return to America
Miss Moran has but added to her haurels

Miss Moran's only sister, Miss Arabella Adama Moran, was recently married to Lieutenant John Molton Hudgins, United States navy, the ceremony being perhaps the most brilliant and fashionable that has taken place in Virginia in year. The nuptials were performed at Christ Episcopal Church, Charlottesville.

A large party from the Yellow Bulphur drove over and spent a day with us. There was a minstrel show given by the waiters, which, with the rag-time and dancing afforded an hour's diversion.

Hon. John Goode has returned to Crocket for the month, to the great pleasure of all his friends and admirers here, in which number, it goes without saying, is included every individual in the place. Mrs. Brooke, Judge Goode's daughter, of Norfolk, and her family will also romain several weeks longer.

HARRISS BACK IN NELSON

LYNCHBURG, VA., September 12 .- Mr. J. G. Epps, a constable of Nelson county, arrived in the city this morning for the purpose of taking charge of the two negroes, Low Young and William Murphy purpose of taking charge of the two negroes, Low Young and William Murphy, who are accused of the murder of William P. Harriss.

The crime was one of the most cold-hlooded that has been recorded in this part of the State for many, many years. Harriss was shot four times in the head, and the pistol with which he was shot was held so close to him that the powder burned into the skin. This fact shows conclusively that Harriss was attacked by more than one person; that he was struggling for his life, and that he was held while the weapon was pinced close to his Lead and fired.

The fight took place on top of a refrigerator car, while the train was dashing along in the darkness of night. After the murderers had accomplished their fiendish work, they sought to drag the body of the unfortunate young man to an opening that led from the interior of the car to the outside. This opening is used for placing ice on the interior. The train evidently reached Gladstone before this purpose could be accomplished.

The two prisoners were turned over to Constable Epps, and he left with them for Gladstone at 1 o'clock this afternoon. He said that there was not the slightest indication of any disposition on the part of the people of that section to resort to mob violence.

The facts are interesting, Mr. Everhart was a former resident of Fauquier, and registered in Warrenton in the fall of 1902 at the time of the first registration under the new Constitution. He came to Leesburg on the 15th of November, 1902, having procured a transfer and applied for registration before at Leesburg board on August 17th. The board denied him on the ground that when the election occurs on November 3, 1902, he will not have been a resident of the county, for one year as the law provides. The law as to transfers seemingly in conflict with this, Mr. Everhart appealed to the Circuit Court of Loudoun, which sustained the board's action and then applied for a writ of error to the Supreme Court which was refused. Considerable interest was manifested in the result of the appeal.

Ligon, and granddaughter of Mr. Daniel W. Tucker, of Maiden's Adventure, and Mr. Noble Murray Jordan, of Dalles, Tex., son of Mr. James C. Jordan, of this county.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hardy Harrison, of Danville, Va: The great popularity of the bride and groom drew out a large and fashlonable assembly. There were friends and relatives from a distance—from Lynchburg. Danville, Richmond, Clifton Forge and Fredericksburg. The church was elaborately decorated with evergroem; the pulpit was banked with ferns and golden rod; the alsies and chancel were covered with white, and myraids of candles shed their soft rays upon the scene. Six large lamps, with yellow shades, threw a beautiful light upon the picture.

The bride, a beautiful brunette, wore white satin en traine and carried orange blossoms, tied with white satin ribbon. The bridesmaids wore white and yellow organides, trimmed with white satin ribbon, and carried golden rod. The bridal party entered the church in the following order: Miss Marian Price and Miss Nellie Balmer, Mr. C. A. Raine and Mr. Wille S. Ligon, Miss Alice Jordan and Miss Susie Ligon, maid of honor, and Mr. Louis Jordan, best man, followed by the bride and groom.

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., Sept. 12.—

the churches showed them to be in a most prosperous condition. The report of the work of the female sociaties of the different churches showed gratifying results. Miss Lena Rudd very skilfully rendered the wedding march, and played softly during the ceremony, "Sweetest Story Ever Told." After this the bride donned her traveling suit, a very stylish gray Venetian cloth one with gloves and hat to match, and the couple left on the east-bound train for Dallas Tex.

saved, but in a badly damaged condition.

The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock and is supposed to have caught from the cook-room flue.

Capt. Hethom possessed many valuable pictures, nearly all of which were lost. He also lost some very valuable papers. The loss is partly covered by insurance, the deficiency being estimated by Capt. Hethom at one thousand dollars.

Capt. Hethom is an Englishman, but has resided in Lunenburg county for the past thirty years, having married a Miss Hatcher, of that county.

None of the family sustained any bodily injury. Capt. Hethom was here this afternoon and said he had as yet made no arrangements for the future. It is hoped by his friends here that he may be prevalled upon now to take up his residence in this place. He already owns some valuable property here and being a man of means can engage in whatever business appears to his fancy.
